What is "parent-child travel"?

—A trip with big hands holding small hands

※ Family tours are a specific form of family travel, involving both adults and children, and they place greater emphasis on the needs of the children.

※ Only the role-playing experience parks and summer/winter camps / study tours for children fall outside the category of parent-child tours.

▶▶II

What is "unpowered play"?

※ In simple terms, it refers to amusement facilities that do not have any power devices such as electric, hydraulic or pneumatic ones. They are composed of functional components and structures like climbing, sliding, entering tubes, walking ladders, swinging, etc., as well as fasteners and connection parts.

※ It has become a focus for family outings in developed countries such as Europe and America.

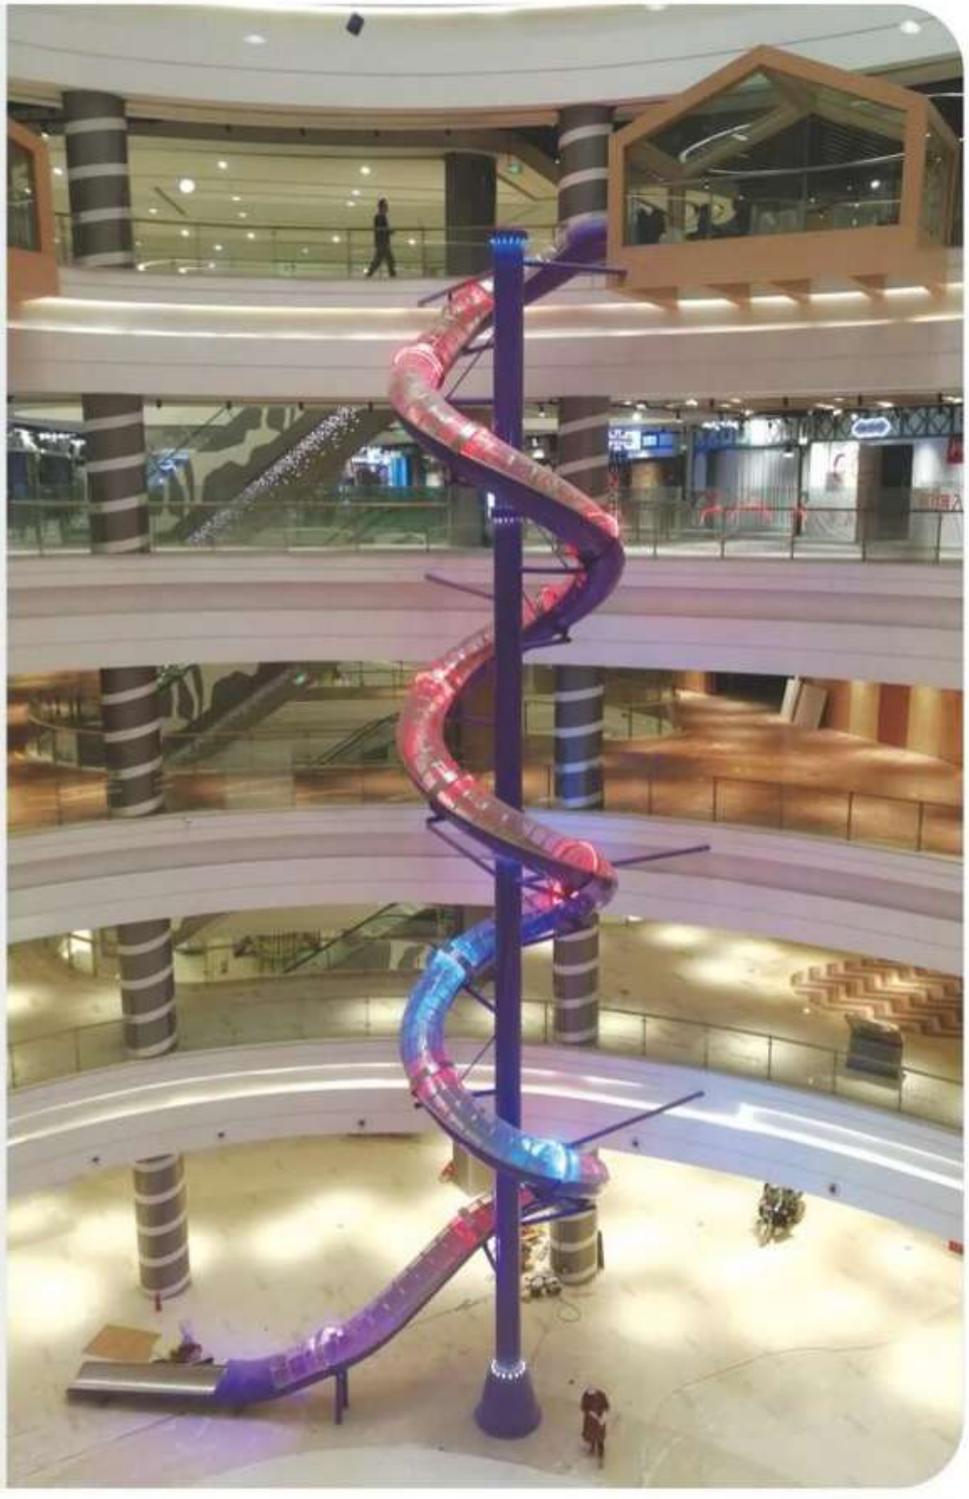
The advantage of stainless steel material lies in not only its exquisite appearance, but also the controllable length. It can be a spiral S slide, a straight slide, an arc slide, a cylindrical slide, a semi-cylindrical slide, a cross-woven spiral loop, etc. It can also be customized for slopes in parks, amusement parks, schools, shopping centers, office buildings, resort hotels, etc., according to the terrain. In today's pursuit of differentiation, it has satisfied the designers' inspirations. All kinds of strange ideas can be presented through the design of the stainless steel slides.

The stainless steel slide is a relatively new type of amusement equipment. Currently, the slides available on the market are mostly made of plastic and are formed through injection molding. They are mass-produced using molds. However, the large-scale production has resulted in fixed sizes and shapes of the slides, which cannot meet the installation requirements for some irregular venues.

The stainless steel amusement facilities have broken through this limitation. The custom-made stainless steel slides can be adjusted according to local conditions and can be installed and debugged on various sites.

The stainless steel slide is made of stainless steel plates with strong weather resistance. It is crafted using welding technology and heat treatment techniques. In terms of usage, compared to other materials, the stainless steel slide is more environmentally friendly and has the advantages of corrosion resistance, smoothness and glossiness. The style, shape and length of the stainless steel slide can be tailored to meet the requirements of customers, and its adaptability to various installation and debugging scenarios is another significant feature.



The stainless steel ladybug sculpture is made of high-quality 304 stainless steel and is crafted through pure hand forging technique. The stainless steel seven-star ladybug sculpture has an elegant and beautiful design, being both practical and decorative. It has a dazzling decorative effect under the sunlight. Its high strength and durable anti-corrosion property are highly appreciated. Whether used or placed, it is regarded as a perfect work of art. The elegant and vividly depicted sculpture facilities and garden ornaments serve as the finishing touch for the amusement park, injecting fresh vitality into the children's playground. It not only adds fun and entertainment but also incorporates knowledge and science, achieving the effect of "teaching through entertainment", stimulating children's intelligence and creativity, and developing their abilities.

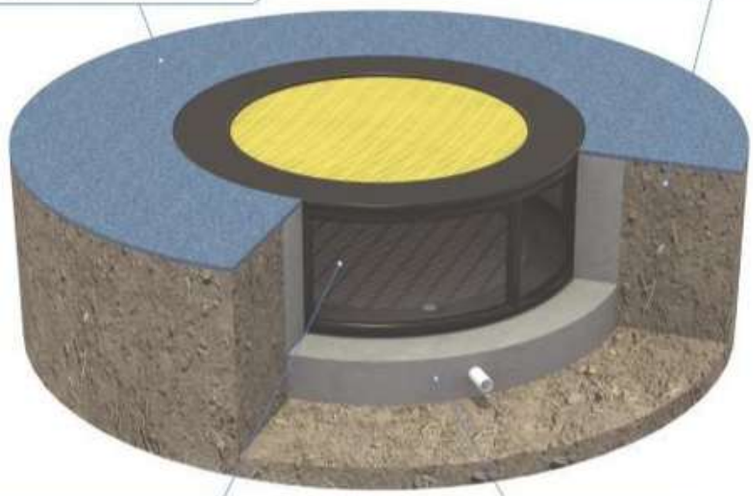
Installation Diagram

It is suggested that an EPDM buffer layer should be constructed around the trampoline. Loose ground materials such as sand and wood chips are prone to be blown into the base pit of the trampoline by the wind, thereby increasing the maintenance requirements.

The quick-installation version of the trampoline comes with a base. The recommended depth of the pit should be 600mm. No construction concrete layer is required on the bottom and the inner walls of the pit. Just compact the plain soil. Place the base, backfill the water-permeable layer, and then insert the main frame.

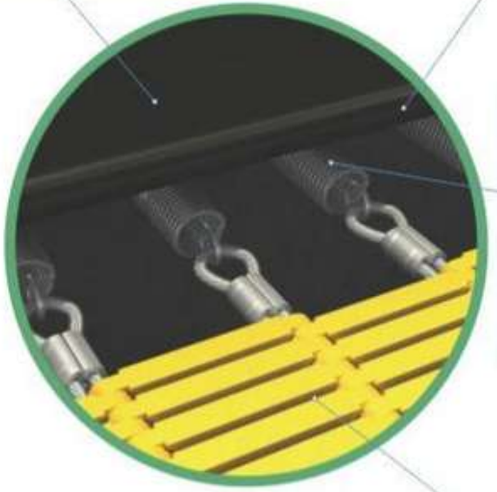


The main frame and base embedded in the ground have undergone surface anti-corrosion treatment to ensure the safety and durability of the trampoline.

The 200mm thick coarse sand seepage layer at the bottom of the foundation pit and the drainage pipes set at the edges ensure the drainage performance of the foundation pit, effectively preventing the problem of water accumulation.

The trampoline cushioning pads are available in four different structures: dyed, EPDM surface with full PEDM, and PCV injection molding. All these structures offer various colors for the cushioning pads, and the surface can be custom-printed with patterns.

The main frame of the trampoline is made by welding 5mm thick steel plates together as a single unit. Reinforcing plates are evenly distributed in the middle to support the main frame and achieve the highest strength. The surface is treated with overall hot-dip galvanizing.



The trampoline spring is made of high-strength silicon-manganese steel. It has a strong stretching capacity. The special design of the attachment part can prevent the spring from falling off during use. The rear end of the spring is fixed to the main steel plate, ensuring the robustness of the entire spring system. The adjustable design of the attachment part ensures that each spring is evenly stressed, resulting in better performance and is suitable for all types of trampolines.

The mesh connection module is made of one-time injection-molded high molecular amino methacrylate material. It has the advantages of being non-toxic and harmless, flame-retardant, and having strong weather resistance. After being exposed to xenon lamp aging irradiation for 900 hours, there is no fading or cracking phenomenon. After 100,000 fatigue tests, the internal steel wire rope does not break, and the module does not deform.
